

Tips on How to Report a Crop Loss

- Contact your crop insurance agent within 72 hours of discovering a crop loss.
- Document the date, time and name of the representative that you report the loss to.
- Provide the following information to the Crop Growers representative:
 - Point of contact, such as the name of the farm owner or manager
 - That person's cell phone number
 - Crop damage status, such as low, moderate or severe damage
- Once you file a claim, an adjuster will call you within 48 hours. (The 48-hour timeframe may be extended due to the number of claims submitted in a short period of time.) Be prepared to discuss the following with the adjuster:

- The event and potential extent of damage
- The date and time for the adjuster to visit your operation to determine the extent of damage and begin the claim adjusting process
- Your record-keeping requirements

Additional Information

- You are required to continue to care for the crop until the adjuster releases it from the acreage.
- Claims exceeding $200,000 require a review of your production records for the previous three years.
- Most claims are finalized by mid-November.
